DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to the following communications: Amendments filed on October 9th, 2009.
2. Claims 18-23 are pending claims.
3. Applicants added claims 18-23.
4. Applicants canceled claims 1-17.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 18-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Jouet et al., US# 7,030,890 (hereinafter Jouet).

As for independent claim 18:

Jouet shows a display process apparatus comprising:

- an application (see “widget”, 4:28-32);
- a display screen (4:17-20);
- a GUI player configured to display, on said display screen, a GUI content used by said application (see “widget” in 4: 27-38);
- a conversion section configured to, by using a conversion rule, convert from an event related to the GUI content displayed on said display screen by said GUI player into an event interpretable for said application, the conversion rule associating the event related to the GUI content with the event interpretable for the application (65: 54-67, 66:48-62 Jouet teaches a look class that defines the appearance of an object. The Look class associated with the widget, and defines the appearance of a plurality of objects),

Art Unit: 2175

- wherein the application processes the event related to said GUI player by using the conversion rule (6:47-58).

As for dependent claim 19:

Jouet shows The display process apparatus according to claim 18, wherein the display process apparatus modifies said GUI player by updating the conversion rule to another conversion rule (7: 55-65).

As for dependent claim 20:

Jouet shows The display process apparatus according to claim 19, wherein the display process apparatus further obtains another GUI player and another conversion rule, and updates the conversion rule to said another conversion rule that has been obtained, and modifies said GUI player to said another GUI player, by using the other conversion rule (8:51-67).

As for independent claim 22:

Claim 22 contains similar substantial subject matter as claimed in claim 18, and is respectfully rejected along the same rationale.

As for independent claim 23:

Claim 23 contains similar substantial subject matter as claimed in claim 18, and is respectfully rejected along the same rationale.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2175

8. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

9. Claim 21 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jouet et al., US# 7,030,890 (hereinafter Jouet) in view of Najmi, US# 6,959,340 B1 (hereinafter Najmi).

As for dependent claim 21:

While Jouet shows a widget that defines the appearance of a plurality of objects, Jouet does not specifically show the display process apparatus according to claim 20, wherein the display process apparatus obtains the other GUI player and the other conversion rule via a network. However in the same field of changing the appearance of a graphical user interface, Najmi teaches a business to business messenger which subscribes to Java Messenger Server. The Java Messenger Server, JMS, is a subscription rule. The JMS message contains a format which based upon a subscription rule and a corresponding document template. The JMS modifies the appearance of the graphical user interface (4:2-20). Accordingly it would have been obvious to a skilled artisan at the time of the invention was made to modify the method of Jouet to incorporate the JMS as taught by Najmi, thus allow the system to obtain a new layout of the GUI over a network (4: 2-25).

10. It is noted that any citation to specific, pages, columns, lines, or figures in the prior art references and any interpretation of the references should not be considered to be limiting in any way. A reference is relevant for all it contains and may be relied upon for all that it would have reasonably suggested to one having ordinary skill in the art. In re Heck, 699 F.2d 1331, 1332-33, 216 USPQ 1038, 1039 (Fed. Cir. 1983) (quoting In re Lemelson, 397 F.2d 1006, 1009, 158 USPQ 275, 277 (CCPA 1968)).

Art Unit: 2175

The Examiner notes MPEP § 2144.01, that quotes In re Preda, 401 F.2d 825, 159 USPQ 342, 344 (CCPA 1968) as stating “in considering the disclosure of a reference, it is proper to take into account not only specific teachings of the reference but also the inferences which one skilled in the art would reasonably be expected to draw therefrom.” Further MPEP 2123, states that “a reference may be relied upon for all that it would have reasonably suggested to one having ordinary skill the art, including nonpreferred embodiments. Merck & Co. v. Biocraft Laboratories, 874 F.2d 804, 10 USPQ2d 1843 (Fed. Cir.), cert. denied, 493 U.S. 975 (1989).

Response to Arguments

11. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

12. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
